Millions more for schools

Final appropriations released; U-46 will get an extra $22.5 million

By Madhu Krishnamurthy

School districts statewide will receive roughly $395 million in additional fund-ing, including $29 million allocated for English learners in highest-need districts.

State education officials Thurs-day released final calculations for how much school districts will receive this fiscal year. Appropriations stem from the state's new evidence-based funding formula that lawmakers approved last August, which aims for a more equitable funding structure.

For some suburban districts, it means unexpected millions of dollars will be distributed starting next week. Elgin Area School District U-46 — the state's second-largest school district, educating roughly 39,300 students — will get an extra $22.5 million on top of $134 million in base funding, and a $1.8 million supplemental grant for English learners.

The $22.5 million is not included in U-46's $518 million spending plan for this fiscal year. Officials will discuss where to spend that money in coming months, CEO Tony Sanders said.

"It's a good problem to have," Sanders said. "We have not budgeted for our infrastructure. We need to set aside funds for capital improvements."

However, lingering concerns over school districts potentially being saddled with more nepsion costs down the read with more nepsion costs down the read with more pension costs down the road could somewhat dampen the elation educators are feeling now.

"Any gains made through the evidence-based funding model could be easily wiped out by a pension shift," Sanders said, referring to proposals to move some of the state's teacher

Veterans' message to peers: Get help if needed

Suicide prevention forum held in Aurora

By MARIE WILSON mwilson@dailyherald.com

When veterans experience the mental health challenges known as the "invisi-ble wounds of war," many fear they've become something they despise: weak.

But speakers at a veterans suicide prevention awareness panel discussion Thursday in Aurora said mental conditions such as post-traumatic stress disorder are not weaknesses; they are brain reactions to lived events. And seeking help is not weakness; it is aware-ness of the need for the support of others to turn struggle into strength.

Darian Blanks, an Air Force veteran who has survived two suicide attempts, shared his perspective on prevention as he gave a keynote address about his mental health journey to more than 100 people during the discussion sponsored by the Aurora University Veterans Association.

His message: Veterans and their loved ones must not let pride or fear of being labeled stand in their way of seeking help.

Blanks didn't follow that advice himself for the first two years of his time with post-traumatic stress, alcohol-ism and substance abuse, but

Trump raises trade stakes

President wants tariffs on $100B more of China goods considered

BY DAMIAN PALETTA, DAVID J. LYNCH
AND HEATHER LONG The Washington Post

WASHINGTON dent Donald Trump ordered his chief trade negotiator to consider imposing tariffs on an additional $100 billion of Chinese products Thursday in a dramatic escalation of his trade war with China. He also called on his cabinet "to protect our farmers and agricultural interests."

Trump's latest move would impose tariffs on a significant share of imported Chinese goods that enter the United States, $505.6 billion worth

It comes a day after China issued a list of tariffs against $50 billion in U.S. goods, including soybeans and small aircraft, in response to recent actions from Trump.

"Rather than remedy its misconduct, China has cho-sen to harm our farmers and manufacturers," Trump said in a statement Thursday

Millions: Formula aimed at curbing 'staggering inequity' pension costs onto individual school districts.

U-46 was expecting anywhere from $12 million to $25 million in additional funding, with various iterations of the funding bill widely supported by suburban superintendents.

"This is absolutely a step in the direction of equity, and I'm thrilled about it," Sanders said. "I don't care about the dollars. I care about equity. We are at 54 percent adequacy
... a little over half of what we should be spending per pupil."

The evidence-based formula defines an adequate funding target for each district based on enrollment and 34 factors, including teacher-to-student ratios and low-income dent ratios and low-income populations. "The numbers show stagger-ing inequity," state Superinten-dent Tony Smith said.

Five previous state grant programs — General State Aid, and funding for special education personnel, services, summer school and English learners — now are merged. No school districts will lose money, at least initially.

The new formula requires an additional $7.2 billion to provide adequate funding for every school district in the state. Chicago Public Schools

Elgin Area School District U-46, of which Lowrie Elementary School here is a part, will be getting more than $24 million in state funding, according to data released by state officials Thursday.

will get an extra $60 million.

"School districts that fall below the adequacy target will receive extra funding to be able to catch up and be in a more equitable position," said Scott Thompson, super-intendent of Palatine Township Elementary District 15, which will receive an additional $324,000. "We think that is good for everyone in the state.

District 15 is the state's third-largest elementary system, serving 12,800 students in seven communities.

Round Lake Area Unit District 116 will receive roughly $5.8 million. Officials hope to use the money for improve-ment projects this summer that they wouldn't be able to afford otherwise.

"I'll believe it even more when it hits our account," school board President Kevin Daniels said. "It's a really good day for the district."

Queen Bee Elementary District 16 in Glendale Heights expects to receive about $452,000, which Superinten-dent Victoria Talbert said will help fill a roughly $500,000 hole in the district's $30 million operating budget. That's a positive for a district serving roughly 1,890 students, "but in no way is this newfound money that we can just spend," she said.

In Villa Park Elementary District 45, the additional $85,000 in state funding is a drop in the bucket considering the district's roughly $60 million budget. Yet, "it's helpful to ensure we're meeting the needs of our students and providing best practices," Superintendent Anthony Palmisano said.

Mintz is headliner on strong Willowbrook pitching staff

By BOB NARANG editorial@mysuburbanlife.com

Willowbrook pitcher Ryan Mintz understood the daunting challenge for his junior season.

As a sophomore, Mintz pitched in several big games for the Warriors.

With five talented senior hitters leading the way, the Warriors set a school record for wins in a season (26-9) before bowing out in a Class 4A sectional title game to South Elgin.

A year later, Mintz is the headliner for a program looking not to take a step back from last season's stellar showing, which included a second-place finish in the West Suburban Gold.

"I gained a lot of confidence from last year that will help me," Mintz said. "We had a really good team, and that helped me prepare for this season."

Three outings into the season, Mintz still is working on his command. The Warriors (4-4, 0-1) suffered a 5-0 league loss to Hinsdale South on April 2. Mintz took the loss, but managed to work out of some tough bases-loaded situations.

Ethan Pieniazek threw two innings in relief, and Vince Ruchala also got work.

Willowbrook coach Vic Wisner said he talked to Mintz before the season about his elevated spot in the rotation.

"He's our No. 1 [pitcher] and will go up against the other team's best pitchers every week," Wisner said. "He wants the ball, [has] got a really good fastball and an effective curveball, and he just goes out and competes hard.

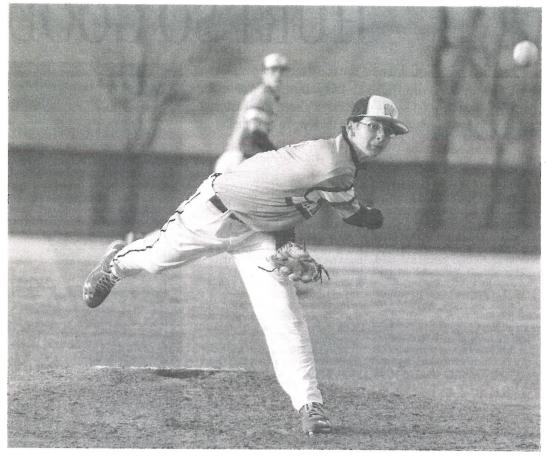

"Even [April 2], it was not his best outing. [Hinsdale South] had the bases loaded multiple times, but they didn't get a run. He competes, good or bad, and is even-keeled. He was our No. 2 last year, but he pitched in our regional and sectional championship game. He has pitched in big moments, knows how to face big teams."

Mintz, a captain, said the pitching staff is working collectively to handle the shift in dealing with closer games because of the loss of numerous big hitters. Last season, Mintz, a right-hander, finished with a 6-2 record and 200 ERA

"We have a lot of really good pitchers, and we all worked hard in the offseason to get ready for the season," Mintz said. "It's been tough with the cold weather, but I feel I have more command and am stronger this season."

The Warriors' pitching staff also includes junior Jack Nilles and emerging sophomore Dax Meyer. Nilles, also a right-hander, is coming off a breakout performance. He compiled a sterling 8-1 record with a 1.86 ERA last season.

"Expectations were high that we were going to throw the ball well, and they've lived up to expectations," Wisner said. "We knew early on that's where our strength would be. Replacing hitters is never easy, and this kind of weather is never easy. They've kept us in every game.

"Dax is pitching well. ... He can pitch up on the varsity, has a dynamite two-seam sinker, he's a bulldog, one of the toughest kids, a really mentally strong, tough kid and does not make excuses."

CJ West struck out five in a complete-game effort, leading the Knights past Fenton 3-0 on April 2. West drove in a run, Griffen Eichhorn scored twice, and Jack Enright doubled and scored a run for ICCP (4-6, 1-0).

Timothy Christian

Jimmy Allen got the win on the mound, and Connor Gwaltney and Harrison Stanton doubled for the Trojans in a 4-3 victory over Walther Christian on April 2.

Trent Marrera got the win and Stanton doubled in the Trojans' 9-0 victory over AC Valley (Pa.) on March 29.

Macaraeg named March recipient of 88's Best by ATHS

Ethan Macaraeg has been named as Addison Trail's March recipient of 88's Best recognition for his outstanding work in the performing arts/ electives. Macaraeg, a senior, was recognized during the March 19 Dis-trict 88 Board of Education meeting.

Macaraeg has been highly involved in Addison Trail's theatre and music programs, where he plays the tenure at Addison Trail and also was viola and is one of the top players in the Chamber Orchestra. He also joined Concert Choir this year because of his love of music.

"Macaraeg is an exceptional student and viola player," said Orchestra Director Alex Stombres. "He comes to rehearsal focused and excited to play. He is a leader in the Chamber Orchestra. Many students look to him as an example for what good viola playing looks like. He is always eager to lend a hand when needed. Being the Orchestra's Librarian, he goes above and beyond regular classroom duties to make sure rehearsal runs well. He brings positivity and zeal to rehearsal that makes everyone play better and have

But where Macaraeg has really found his niche is in theatre. He wasn't even going to join his freshman year, but he saw many of his friends participating, so he thought he would give it a try. He has par-ticipated in all 12 shows during his part of the 2018 Illinois High School Theatre Festival (IHSTF) All-State production of "Big Fish." That show was recently accepted to perform during the International Thespian Festival (ITF), which will take place in June at University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The experience of participating in the IHSTF was one of his favorites because he was able to work with other theatre students who have a similar drive and passion for theatre. Macaraeg said his favorite production at Addison Trail was the musical 'Jesus Christ Superstar," mainly because he was in charge of decorating the set in art deco - and after using a few templates as a guide, he decorated the majority of the set himself.

"Macaraeg is just amazing, and I am so proud of the work he has accomplished as a student of the arts.' said Theatre Director and English teacher Anna Jakubka. "On April

Historical Society presents program on corn history

On Thursday, April 19 at 7 p.m., the Addison Historical Society will present a program called "How Corn Changed Itself and Then Changed Everything Else," led by Cynthia Clampitt. The program is free and will be held in Room 1301 at Addison Village Hall.

Illinois history is corn history-yet, today, many Illinoisans have little direct experience with the sources of their food and the people who produce it. Although, American history textbooks mention corn only in the context of rescuing early European settlers, it sustained the colonies and then, the early United States. It then virtually created the Midwest, a region settled faster than any other in history. Illinois was built on corn and continues to be sustained by it. At present, Illinois is the second-place corn growing state in the nation. Even if you think you know corn well, there is much to learn about its historic impact, and why it is so vital today.

Our speaker is author Cynthia Clampitt, who has pursued food history for more than three decades. She delights in introducing people to the remarkable, fascinating, vital, but often-overlooked impact food has had on human history-and our everyday lives. Her publications include, "Midwest Maize: How Corn Shaped the U.S. Heartland" by University of Illinois Press, 2015.

This free program is made possible by the Road Scholars Speakers Bureau Program of the Illinois Humanities Council. For more information, call 630-628-1433 or email museum@addison-il.org.

He has shown such initiative in this project, as well as many other projects at Addison Trail, and he has been the stage manager for several musicals and plays throughout his time here. He also was named to a new position in our student leadership by becoming our Props Master. I've never had a student as Props Master, but he wanted the challenge, and he wants to improve AT Theatre. I am excited to see what he does in the future."

He described the arts as giving him his safe space to express himself. Macaraeg also has realized how his manual labor on the numerous sets grows into something more that everyone can experience and enjoy.

Outside of the performing arts, Macaraeg serves as Secretary for the National Honor Society, Treasurer for the Thespian Society, Secretary for Key Club, Copy Editor for the school's yearbook (ATtribute) and a CORE leader for the school's Pay It Forward program to welcome incoming freshmen. He also excels academically and has taken nine Honors courses and 11 Advanced Placement (AP)/college-level courses.

ATHS drama to present spring play, The Murder Room

opens Thursday

A classic tale of "whodunit" will take center stage at Addison Trail when the school presents its spring play, The Murder Room by Jack Sharkey.

The show will take place from April 5, 6 & 7 in the black box studio theatre at Addison Trail High School. The play is a British murder-mystery farce that follows six Classic 'whodunit' characters through a hilarious series of mishaps and comedy of errors as they try to cover up and figure out a murder - which never actually happened.

Senior Burke Parent, who plays Barry Draper, said what makes this play unique is its size.
"Because the cast is smaller and we're performing in a more personal and intimate setting in our black box studio theatre, it provides an opportunity for the focus to be more about each character as an individual, rather than the grandeur of the show as a whole," he said.

Theatre Director Anna Jakubka said she chose The Murder Room because of the personal connection she has to the show. She had performed in the play while in high school, and her fiancé was part of the production at a local community theatre.

"It's a lighthearted, fun show, and want our students to experience that and share it with the audience, she said. "I hope everyone in the crowd enjoys lots of laughs.'

Addison Trail softball team off to strong

By Mike Miazga CORRESPONDENT

The Addison Trail softball team started its season strong but once again ran into the brick wall called Mother Nature.

The Blazers were 3-1 through late last week after beating West Chicago, Glenbard West and Springfield Lanphier and losing to Streamwood.

"Streamwood had a very good pitcher who dominated us," said Addison Trail coach Mark Olson. "Glenbard West was a good regional win.'

The win against Lanphier came during the team's trip for a second year in a row to the Springfield-St. Louis areas. And once again, the trip was derailed by sour weather.

"We were rained out Saturday stop and play Coal City and that got rained out," said Olson. "This is the second year in a row that has hap-

Cancellations aside, Olson likes the group he's working with. "We have a pretty good mix," he said. 'We have a nice group of returning seniors—four of them, which is good—and we have three starting freshmen in the mix."

One of those seniors is three-sport athlete Nicci Scorza who missed last softball season due to injury. Right fielder Kathleen Lacni and left fielder Vincenza Zaccaro are seniors and three-year varsity players, while catcher and designated player Ginanna Trippiedi also is a three-majority of its pitching experience to graduation and transfer. "We probably lost 99 percent of our innings from last year," said Olson. "That's a tough thing to have to fill. But, we are battling. The one question mark we do have is on the mound. We have to make sure we aren't walking a lot of people and giving out a lot of freebies. If we can keep doing what we can defensively and offensively, we'll be able to build from there."

Olson noted the team came back in two of its wins. Addison Trail was down 5-0 to West Chicago and ended up winning 15-9. It also was down 4-0 and 8-2 to Glenbard West and ended up winning 13-12.

fantastic. We still have a lot of things we can clean up and we will. That will come with time. Some of the early struggles we've had with things is the result of being out in the cold weather. If you are getting the effort and enthusiasm like we are, you can't go wrong there."

Olson also has been impressed with junior center fielder Sophia Hawkins, another three-year player (three-year starter). "She's been doing a fantastic job," he said.

Shortstop Anna Ruffolo and infielder Jessica Krause also have been key contributors, along with third baseman-catcher Isabel Aramburu. Ruffolo, Krause and Arambu-

Bison getting back into swing of things after weather-forced spring trip cancellation

By Mike Miazga CORRESPONDENT

It's been a good start to the season for the Fenton softball team.

Through late last week the Bison were 3-0 after wins against Lake View. North Grand and Chicago Academy by a combined count of 65-5.

Fenton downed Lake View 20-3, North Grand 21-0 and Chicago Academy 24-2.
"Our young pitching has been really solid," said Fenton coach Dave Mello.

Sophomore Gianna Mendoza earned wins against Lake View and Chicago Academy, while freshman Cynthia Ibarra was the winner against North Grand. Freshman Ashley Marshall has pitched in relief and had 10 strikeouts in four innings, while freshman Claira Panos has nine strikeouts in four innings.

On the offensive side, sophomore Joni Lucas and junior Isa Lozada lead the team with three home runs each, while senior Rose Riley has two home runs. Sophomore Alyssa Texta has one Pudlo is returning from an injury that kept him out of the basketball season. "Michael is physical and can play both outside and middle, but it will take him some time to get back to his normal level of play," said Grant.

Werderitch filled in at middle last year due to injury, but will move to his natural outside position this year. "Justin has a lot of potential," said Grant.

Grant likes the way the team's serving, passing and defense are shaping up. "I am confident in our serving, passing and defense," he said. "We return several solid defenders who will push each other. We will need to spread the ball around on offense in order to be effective. It will take a total team effort to replace the offense of Colton Noel, who graduated. There should be a lot of competition for playing time this year. We have several different lineups I would feel comfortable with if we had to play today. It's just a matter of figuring out who fits together the best and who plays what position."

of cutting Man accused power lines in Lombard

DuPage County State's Attorney Robert B. Berlin announced last week that a Lombard man had been charged with Criminal Damage to Property, a Class 4 Felony, for allegedly cutting down power lines to several houses in unincorporated Lombard. Austin Michalik 31, of 1S045 3rd Street, appeared in Bond Court, where Judge Brian Jacobs set bond at $30,000 with 10% to apply. On March 27, DuPage County Sheriff's Deputies were dispatched to Meyers Road in unincorporated Lombard for a call of someone allegedly cutting power lines to three area homes. Several minutes later the deputies located Michalik allegedly walking down Roosevelt Road with tree trimmers in his hands. It is alleged that Michalik used the tree trimmers to cut the power lines to the residences

"The allegations against Mr. Michalik go beyond vandalism," Berlin said. "His alleged actions posed a public safety threat not only to anyone who may have come across the downed live power lines but also to the homes whose service was disrupted '

Michalik's next court appearance was scheduled for April 2, in front of Judge Brian Telander.

Members of the public are reminded that this complaint contains only charges and is not proof of the defendant's guilt.

How rope work can Rodriguez, Lancers notch triumph unwrap your swing

You watched all four rounds of the Masters and you're ready to hit the links and putt and chip like tournament champion Patrick Reed or make some eagles like low amateur and Arlington Heights native Doug Ghim. However, your clubs have been in the garage since your final round last year and you never made it to the indoor range during the off-season. But you're still hoping we'll see temperatures in the 70s this week so you can get out and play.

How are you going to get ready for golf season?

First, we need to work on that swing. Get the shoulders and arms working properly after a dormant winter and find a comfortable swing speed. Here's a drill I like to have my students try: buy a rope at your local hardware store that is 4-inch thick and double the length of your 5 iron.

Start swinging the rope as if you're taking a swing with your golf club and keep going in a continuous back and forth motion for up to 10 swings at a time. Let the rope tap you on the shoulder on the backswing and then the front shoulder on the follow through.

If the rope is swung with the right tempo, it will move smoothly from back to front.

If you're too quick it's difficult to stop the rope in time at the end points, which makes it difficult to change directions

One of the main issues many golfers struggle with in their swing is understanding how to accelerate smoothly and have the speed show up at the correct time with a low amount of effort. This drill will help you develop a consistent swing speed.

The late runs helped secure the win for Rodriguez, who allowed 3 runs on 6 hits in anowed 3 tims on 6 mis mis four innings against the Hill-toppers before handing the ball over to sophomore Abbey Frank. Frank picked up the save for the 3-3 Lancers.

"I thought I did pretty

Lake Park scored twice in the first with a two-out rally that started with a walk by Rodriguez and was followed by a single from Emily Frank and a 2-run hit off the bat of shortstop Gwen DeWaele. The visitors scored three more times in the third for a 5-1 lead with the aid of a pair of Hilltoppers errors and an RBI double to the wall in right-center by catcher Mel Bogus. But Glenbard West (0-3), which hadn't played in two weeks, battled to the end. The Hilltoppers closed to within 5-3 with a pair of runs in the bottom of the fourth after three singles were followed by an error and Lexi Gregule was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded.

The Hilltoppers picked up a run in the sixth after Jessica Bongiorno walked and later scored on a wild pitch, but it was not enough offense, especially considering the home team left 11 runners on base.

"We showed a lot of fight today, which I'm pleased with," said Glenbard West coach Mary McGrane. "We left quite a few runners on base, but it wasn't so much that we left runners on base, it was more so that you leave them on when you've got nobody out and we're not put-
