Stephen Steinhaus will serve as principal

As of April 16, Addison Trail alumnus Stephen Steinhaus (class of 1991) was set to open a brand new, free school in Solihull, England, for pupils who are 13 to 16 years old.

Steinhaus will serve as principal of the school called Solihull Academy. It will open with 30 Year 9 students and is planned to be at full capacity this coming September, with up to 110 students in Years 9 through 11. Steinhaus said the school will offer an alternative choice for students who are at risk of falling behind academically, socially and emotionally.

He graduated from University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign with a degree in teaching of English. While there, he was a member of the football team and was a letterman athlete and an Academic All-Big Ten honoree. He also earned a Master of Philosophy degree in English Literature

I-CASH comes to the library

This representative from the Illinois State Treasurer's office came out to the Addison Public Library on Thursday, April 26 to share the I-CASH recovery list. The I-CASH service helps residents of the state of Illinois to discover if they are owed any of the $2.5 billion of unclaimed property/money in Illinois. Several people were delighted to discover money that they didn't know they had.

ture from The Shakespeare Institute, where he was a Fulbright Scholar, and a Master of Arts degree in creative writing from University of Hawaii.

About the academy

"Solihull Academy is an ambitious undertaking," he said. "We will work incredibly hard, but we will play hard as well, and we are creating a community of leaders and educators who can change the educational futures and life chances for every student who comes to us and, thereby, change what education looks like in Solihull and the West Midlands of England."

He added class sizes will be small (maximum of 10 to 12 students), the curriculum will be innovative and bespoke and the building has been extensively refurbished with a number of added benefits (courtyard garden, mini gym, etc.). But the core of what the school will offer students and parents/guardians will be the innovative teaching, inclusive practice, therapeutic environment, positive relationships and unrelenting passion offered by intensely committed staff members.

'ATHS changed my life'

Steinhaus said his experiences at Addison Trail inspired him on his journey to pursue a career in education.

"Addison Trail changed my life - I can still draw a line directly from where I am now to Mr. Carlson's freshmen English class, when I first read, studied and watched Shakespeare," Steinhaus said. "I guess, like everybody else, though, the key to and highlight of my time at AT was relationships, both with staff and students. The love, care and support AT staff members had for us, and the drive, tenacity and ambition they instilled in us continues to loom large and bear fruit for me and many of us more than 25 years later!"

Chamber hosts annual Students Honors Banquet for ATHS

On April 12, Addison Trail seniors were recognized by the Addison Chamber of Commerce & Industry (ACCI) during the chamber's annual Student Honors Banquet.

The event took place at Medinah in Addison and honored the students for their academic and extracurricular accomplishments. To see the list of the class of 2018 ACCI Scholarship honorees, go to dupage88.net/site/public/files/?item=3908. AT Principal Michael Bolden and District 88 Superintendent Dr. Scott Helton presented each student with a certificate for his or her achievements.

Addison Trail seniors Angela Addante, Jett Ramir and Lauren Stamatopoulos were named as the recipients of the ACCI Scholarship, and the Kiwanis Club of Addison Scholarship winners were seniors Robessa Llanto, Bianca Piscopo and Katarina Surjancev. The AJ LaRocca Memorial Foundation Scholarship is awarded to students who are interested in pursuing a career in environmental-water-reclamation-wastewater treatment or fire services. This year's recipients were Katelyn Bayne, MacKenzie Crawford and Christopher Latelle.

Surjancev served as the student speaker, and she reminded her peers they are more than test scores and encouraged them to not measure their value and success by numbers.

The keynote speaker was Addison Trail alumna Alexa Scimeca Knierim (class of 2009), who represented the U.S. during the PyeongChang 2018 Olympic Winter Games with her husband and pairs figure skating partner Christopher Knierim. At the Olympics, Team USA won the bronze medal in the figure skating team event. Scimeca Knierim shared her journey to get to that level of success in her sport, which included overcoming a stomach illness that required her to have multiple surgeries and kept her off the ice for nearly the entire 2016 season.

As the students prepare for life after high school, she advised them to stay positive and passionate and to have fortitude and faith. For more information about the Olympians, go to TeamAKCK.com.

Addison Trail boys track team in good position

Blazers continue to make progress in multiple events

By Mike Miazga
CORRESPONDENT

Addison Trail boys track coach Jim Ziebka likes what he has seen from his squad thus far this spring.

"We have transitioned very well to the outdoor season," he said. "We are seeing multiple athletes across all events achieving personal records on a weekly basis."

Progress has been made in the relays department, in particular. "Our relays are strong and improving every week," said Ziebka.

Field events and middle-distance fall into that category as well. "Our field events are coming along and our middle distance is starting to demonstrate marked improvement. We are very fortunate to have some great student-athletes who are willing to do what is needed to help the team."

Consistency in improvement has been another key for the Blazers. "We have not seen any massive demonstration in improved performance in any one particular event," said Ziebka. "However, we have become better across the board every week. Our student-athletes have really bought into the process and they should be ready to peak at our conference-championship and sectional meets."

Albert White, a senior, competes in the high jump and is part of the Addison Trail 1,600 relay team. "Albert has really stepped up in the high jump and has become a mainstay on our 1,600 relay team," said Ziebka. "His work ethic and team-first attitude have been awesome."

Senior Braden Whitaker is new to the team this season. "Braden has been so impressive as a first-year track athlete," said Ziebka. "He is such a well-rounded athlete who has been able to immediately contribute in the high jump, long jump and a few sprint events."

Freshman Cole Greaves also has made an impact. "Cole has had a great freshman year, but now is really starting to demonstrate some serious improvements and like many of our guys wants to be better every day," said Ziebka.

Addison Trail continues to work toward the West Suburban Conference Gold Division and sectional meets that are quickly approaching in May.

"Our student-athletes trusted the coaches and have bought into the process and the results are now starting to come into fruition," said Ziebka. "We have really good kids and I am excited to watch them perform over the next few weeks. So far, so good. I do wish we were more consistent in our performance earlier in the year. There were a lot of variables that contributed to this ebb and flow of performance, but recently we have been demonstrating consistency and improvement. This could not happen at a more important time of the season, so I am anticipating some great performances in the weeks ahead."

At the recent Everett invitational, Nick D'Ambrose was sixth in the 100 with a time of 11.83. Pablo Mosely, a junior, was sixth in the 200 in 25.10. Senior Alvaro Garza was third in the 400 in 53.42.

Junior Lukas Rodriguez took fourth in the 800 in 2:08.88. Junior Ricardo Arreguin was seventh in the 1,600 in 5:15.84. Arreguin also was sixth in the 3,200 with a time of 11:04.29.

Junior James Carr took second in the 110 hurdles in 17.64. Junior Cesar Herrera was fifth in the 300 hurdles in 49.04.

Addison Trail took sixth in the 400 relay in 46.63 and placed fourth in the 800 relay in 1:37.67. The Blazers were fourth in the 1,600 relay with a time of 3:46.23. Addison Trail also was third in the 3,200 relay in 8:50.10.

Junior Sergio Serna took seventh in the long jump with a mark of 16-11 1/4. Sophomore Sulaemon Ahmed was sixth in the triple jump at 36-6 1/2. Mike Renc took fourth in the shot put at 40-9. Renc also was eighth in the discus at 92-3.

White took fourth in the high jump at 5-2.

The Blazers took sixth in the invitational with 81 points.

Willowbrook's Loth excelling in shot put; cracks school record books
Addison Trail boys volleyball team moves to 4-0 in conference

CORRESPONDENT

In a limited outdoor sample size to work with, Willowbrook boys track coach TJ Artman likes what has transpired thus far.

"We are running well for having only one meet so far," he said.

In that first race, Artman liked what he saw from Mike Isaacson, who ran a 4:47 1,600 and also a 2:04 in the 800. "Mike had a great start," the coach said.

Brandon Loth broke into Willowbrook's all-time top 10 list in the shot put after going 50-10 1/2 at Glenbard South.

"That ranks him No. 8 all-time in school history," said Artman.

Artman is hopeful with better weather on the horizon that his squad will get much more meet work under its belt.

"Hopefully we'll have more in the next two weeks as we get some more meets in," he said.

Coaches eye future in new conference

Daily Herald Reports

The St. Charles North and Elgin boys volleyball teams shook hands and went their separate ways Thursday following North's 25-8, 25-13 Upstate Eight Conference road win.

Their respective athletic programs part ways next month.

The Upstate Eight Conference as constituted since 2010 with 14 schools in two divisions is approaching sunset.

A new era dawns in the 2018-19 school year when St. Charles North, St. Charles East, Geneva and Batavia form the new DuPage Valley Conference along with existing DuPage Valley Conference members Wheaton Warrenville South, Wheaton North, Glenbard North and Lake Park.

The revised Upstate Eight will have 10 schools, retaining Larkin, Elgin, Streamwood, South Elgin, Bartlett,

Roundup

Glenbard East, West Chicago, West Aurora and East Aurora adding Glenbard South, which exits the Metro Suburban Conference.

The changes mean Thursday's meeting between the North Stars and Maroons was "possibly the last time we'll see Elgin for a long time," St. Charles North coach Todd Weimer said.

From a boys volleyball standpoint, realignment should benefit both programs if not all involved.

DuKane Conference boys volleyball will be highly competitive. St. Charles North (17-9, 7-0) leads the URC and can clinch no worse than a title share with a win against West Aurora in St. Charles on Tuesday. Geneva is tied for second with Bartlett, two games back in the loss column.

Wheaton Warrenville South won seven boys volleyball state titles between 2004 and 2012. DVC leader Lake Park (25-4), ranked fourth in the Daily Herald Top 10, defeated St. Charles North in a 2017 sectional final and finished third at state. Wheaton North is 16-5.

Student art at Willowbrook

Conroy urges ratification of Equal Rights Amendment

State Rep. Deb Conroy, D-Villa Park, is sponsoring a measure to bring Illinois one step closer to ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the United States Constitution to guarantee protections against gender discrimination.

"It is hard to believe that nearly 50 years after the introduction of the Equal Rights Amendment, women across the country are still fighting for their right to equal protection under the law," said Conroy. "I am proud to be a sponsor of this legislation and hope our legislature can help make history by getting us closer to the ratification of this amendment."

If adopted, Illinois would become the 37th state to ratify the ERA, which was approved by Congress in 1972. Approval by 38 states is required for the amendment to be added to the United States Constitution. The Equal Rights Amendment would guarantee constitutional protection of the rights of citizens regardless of sex. The measures would help to provide clear judicial standards for deciding cases of sex discrimination and help women combat wage discrimination in the workplace.

"As legislators, it is our duty to protect the rights of every Illinois resident without discrimination," Conroy added. "Our action on this issue will show women across the state that we are serious about fighting the injustices of sex discrimination. I hope that my colleagues will join me in making history and vote in support of the Equal Rights Amendment."

Senate Joint Resolution Constitutional Amendment 4 previously passed the Senate and is under consideration in the House.

The Glenbard East baseball team improved its Upstate Eight Valley Conference record to 7-0 by sweeping a three-game series against Bartlett. The three victories gave the Rams an eight-game winning streak, and an overall season record of 15-4.

The streak ended with Saturday's 3-0 loss at Batavia in a crossover game against an opponent in the Upstate Eight River Conference. Saturday's loss left the Rams at 15-5 overall and 7-1 in the conference standings.

Glenbard East completed its sweep of the Hawks with a 5-0 win in Lombard on April 26. Junior pitcher Jacob Bailey delivered a brilliant complete-game performance to earn the victory. Bailey threw 74 pitches in seven innings. He gave up four hits and didn't allow any walks. Bailey recorded nine strikeouts.

"He was efficient, and he was locating his pitches," said Glenbard East coach Joel Pelland of Bailey. "He was very confident. When he has confidence in his stuff, he's good."

Senior Jack Crackel drilled a two-run home run to left field in the fourth inning. Crackel's first homer of the season gave the Rams a 4-0 lead. Junior Jeremy Johnson, who went 2-for-3, added a run-scoring double in the fifth inning. Johnson's double drove in senior Taylor Westerhoff, who went 1-for-2 with a run batted in and scored a pair of runs.

The Rams opened their series against Bartlett with a 9-4 victory on April 24 in Lombard. Junior Bret Bushka went 3-for-3 and drove in six runs. Bushka belted a three-run home run—his second homer of the season—in the fifth inning to give the Rams a 9-1 lead.

The series against the Hawks continued with Glenbard East's 7-6 win in Bartlett on April 25. Bushka went 3-for-4 and drove in two runs for the Rams. "This team has been resilient all year," said Pelland. "No matter what the situation is, they believe they can come back. We've had our backs up against the wall a couple of times this season. The boys have come through."
