Wheaton North's Jackson Gray warms up before the start of a game against Waubonsie Valley this season.

STEALING THE SHOW

Jackson Gray set stolen base record, went 8-1 for Wheaton North

By BOB NARANG
editorial@mysuburbanlife.com

Through the last three years, Wheaton North baseball coach Dan Schoessling kept noticing Jackson Gray's gradual improvement.

Gray became a consistent threat at the plate, turned into the Falcons' ace and took on a bigger leadership role the past two seasons.

"Jackson improved every year and was always a great athlete," Schoessling said. "He made adjustments and really improved at the plate and became a much more disciplined hitter. It was nice to see him improve. He was able to spot his fastball and his breaking stuff was really tough on right-handed hitters. He was a leader in our program. He set a great example for the younger kids to look up to him, just from the way he played the game hard."

Schoessling said he didn't expect Gray to become the program's all-time career leader in steals with 56. Gray, a Washington University recruit, finished with a single-season program record 38 steals this season.

At 6-foot-2 and 200 pounds, Gray shocked many people with his success on the basepaths.

"The base stealing was probably the most surprising improvement," Schoessling said. "Jackson's a pretty big kid. To look at him, you probably wouldn't think speed. Once he gets moving, he has great acceleration and is just fearless on the bases. He had the green light and we didn't have to worry about him making a mistake out there. He had the right mentality."

Gray made a habit of surprising teams with his play. After a solid junior season at the plate and on the mound, Gray batted .353 with 31 RBIs and finished 8-1 with a 1.61 ERA in 56 2/3 innings. For his efforts, Gray is the Suburban Life Baseball Player of the Year.

Gray said he focused on becoming a bigger threat on the bases this season.

"Last year I thought I was pretty good on the bases with stealing," Gray said. "But this year I went with a different mindset. I decided to be really aggressive on the bases. Every time I got on, I wanted to steal second, then third to get around the bases and score a lot of runs. That was my mindset."

Gray, also a standout safety in football, said he surprised many opponents with his speed.

"It's not very typical for a first baseman to steal a lot of bases," he said. "That first time on every game, most teams didn't expect me to steal a lot of bases."

Besides switching to first base before this season, Gray said he worked on his mental approach to stay away from prolonged slumps at the plate and to help him endure rough innings while pitching.

"I had a better attitude this year," he said. "I didn't ride or die with every at-bat or play in the field or every bad moment. If I struck out, I would put it behind me. Staying positive and having a good mindset helped me stay out of slumps."

Gray saved some of his best moments for games at Naperville Central. He struck out 10 batters and tossed a three-hitter in an 8-0 road win against Naperville Central. He hit two home runs in a 9-8 loss at Naperville Central on May 9.

"I was happy with our season," Gray said. "Our overall record was something I was proud of, though we didn't have as much success in the playoffs. I was proud of our season."

Willowbrook's Martin Macenis drives toward the basket June 15 during a game against Pleasant Valley at the Hoop Mountain Shootout at Batavia High School.

Martin Macenis a big addition for Willowbrook

Senior is 6-foot-5, but showcases guard-like skill set at Shootout

By JOSHUA WELGE
jwelge@shawmedia.com

BATAVIA – Martin Macenis is what he goes by, but in his parent's native country the first name is spelled Martynas.

"My family's Lithuanian," Macenis said. "That's how they say it. They were born there."

Either way, Macenis is a name to remember.

The rangy 6-foot-5 senior transferred to Willowbrook from south suburban Stagg after his dad moved. Macenis is just the kind of player the Warriors could use after graduating All-Area forward Ethan Schuemer off last year's sectional finalist.

Macenis showcased some of his guard-like skills at the 14th Annual Hoop Mountain Shootout on June 15 and 16 at Batavia.

Willowbrook went 2-1 in pool play, and led Rockford Auburn by double digits in its only loss.

"It's a learning experience," Macenis said.

Macenis also is learning about his new teammates.

He knows one player well. Willowbrook guard Matas Masys has been teammates with Macenis on AAU, and with a Lithuanian junior team.

Masys, though, was not at Hoop Mountain. He's out of town on a visit to Brown University.

Macenis got a glimpse of Willowbrook last year when the Warriors played at the Stagg Tournament.

"Willowbrook plays at a lot higher speed [than Stagg]," Macenis said. "We played them last year. They were pretty good."

The Warriors already returned a decent nucleus off last year's team that won the program's first regional title since 2004. Masys and brothers Sam and Scotty Tumilty return.

Junior Everett Stubblefield, who averaged double digits after a call-up to varsity last year and opened eyes in a sectional win over Naperville North, could be one to watch for a breakout season. Stubblefield, an explosive perimeter scorer, played through a turned ankle at Batavia.

Willowbrook went 5-1 in games at Plainfield East and 4-2 at Oswego East.

"I thought overall we played well [at Batavia]," Willowbrook coach Chris Perkins said. "We're short-handed. Matas is visiting Brown, and another starter Jack Hines is on a baseball travel team in Kansas City. But I thought the guys played hard and we competed. Too many turnovers we have to clean up. We got steals, got in transition a lot."

Perkins first learned that Macenis was moving in after he registered for school a week before the Willowbrook basketball camp.

He's 6-5, but Macenis is listed as a guard. And plays like one.

Macenis runs the floor well, and handles the ball with ease. He also has a smooth perimeter shot for a high school player his size.

"Nice, solid player, good addition, seems to fit in with the guys," Perkins said. "He's been with us for about two weeks. He's still getting acclimated, but adds another playmaker with his height. He definitely adds a dimension to our team."

Macenis doesn't have any offers, but he is in frequent contact from coaches at the Division II level, and a few Division I's.

"He's still learning everybody's game," Perkins said. "We're calling out sets that he doesn't know, but that's what summer is for. He can shoot it, he can handle the ball, and he can get on the block and defend."

Bill would allow officers seeking mental health services to keep job

State Sen. Tom Cullerton (D-Villa Park) is working to advance legislation that would prevent the penalization of police officers for seeking mental health services.

Cullerton's House Bill 5231 would clear the way for officers to remain employed if they have been a patient in a mental health facility but not been determined to pose a clear and present danger to themselves or others. It would do so by removing a FOID card as a condition for employment.

"We want officers who have endured traumatic experiences to seek medical assistance without fear of losing their jobs," Cullerton said.

Although the legislation protects officers who seek mental health services, it does not prohibit an employer from determining an officer's fitness to serve.

"Our law enforcement officers keep us safe. In doing so, they experience disturbing situations that may warrant their use of mental health services. This makes them human," Cullerton said. "We are all safer if we make sure these officers have access to the proper mental health services to deal with the traumas they routinely face."

The measure is an initiative of the Illinois Fraternal Order of Police Labor Council, which said requiring a FOID card for law enforcement officers — many of whom are active service members and veterans of the armed forces — creates an unnecessary obstacle to receiving mental health treatment.

According to a study by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, 22 veterans commit suicide every day in the U.S. Cullerton, chairman of the Illinois Senate Veterans Affairs Committee who served as an infantryman in the Army from 1990 to 1993, continues to work toward eliminating the veteran suicide epidemic in Illinois.

"Our veterans have taken care of us. Now it is our time to take care of them," Cullerton said. "We should remove all obstacles to mental health treatment for our military veterans and public safety personnel."

House Bill 5231 passed the Senate with bipartisan support.

According to information provided by the village, one key feature of the new five-year contract is an annual confidential paper shredding event. Cullerton-supported bill eliminates credit reporting agency fees

On Sept. 7, 2017, Equifax announced that a security breach compromised the personal information of 143 million U.S. residents, including more than 5.4 million Illinois residents.

There will now be protections against the consequences of such breaches thanks to a measure championed by state Sen. Tom Cullerton (D-Villa Park), which will allow consumers to protect themselves in a cost-effective and timely manner.

"This new law will ensure people are not penalized for making responsible financial decisions," Cullerton said. "Every day Illinois residents use online services that require them to share personal information. This makes all of us susceptible to security breaches similar to the 2017 Equifax breach. When misfortune strikes, it's vital that the state of Illinois ensures DuPage County residents have the tools available to protect themselves."

Cullerton's House Bill 4095 will prohibit consumer reporting agencies from imposing a charge on a consumer for placing a freeze, removing a freeze or temporarily lifting a freeze on their credit reports.

The Equifax security breach compromised information such as names, Social Security numbers, birth dates, addresses and driver's license numbers. This breach is very concerning, as such sensitive information can be used for identity theft.

Previously, consumer reporting agencies were allowed to charge up to $10 each time a consumer wished to take these proactive actions.

House Bill 4095 will not only eliminate fees but would also allow Illinois residents to initiate or remove a freeze by telephone and through electronic methods.

"It's important for the state laws to evolve with the needs of the people," Cullerton said.

"In light of recent security breaches, it is important that the state has protections in place that prioritizes consumers."

House Bill 4095 goes into effect immediately.

For those who are already victims of identity theft or those who believe their personal or financial information has been compromised, Cullerton suggests calling the Illinois Attorney General's toll-free Identity Theft Hotline at 866-999-5630 or 877-844-5461 (TTY).

Bond set for man accused of shooting at Stratford Square Mall

2 shot, including loss prevention officer

DuPage County State's Attorney Robert Berlin and Bloomington Director of Public Safety Frank Giammarese announced last week that bond had been set for a Glendale Heights man accused of shooting a loss prevention officer at the Burlington Coat Factory store at Stratford Square Mall in Bloomington.

Keonte Griffin, 23, of Glendale Heights, appeared at a bond hearing, where Judge Jeffrey MacKay set bond at $750,000 with 10 percent to apply.

Griffin has been charged with one count of aggravated battery with a firearm, a Class X felony; and, one count of possession of a weapon by a felon, a Class 3 felony.

At approximately 1:28 p.m. on June 12, officers with the Bloomington Police Department were dispatched to the Stratford Square Mall for a report of shots fired. Upon their arrival, officers found the loss prevention officer and victim sitting at the store with both men suffering from gunshot wounds. The loss prevention officer had been shot once in the shoulder and the defendant had been shot once through his hand and into his thigh.

It is alleged that prior to the arrival of police, the victim had escorted Griffin from the store after Griffin allegedly urinated into a bottle while in a changing room and then kicked the bottle over in the changing room, spilling the contents.

It is alleged that Griffin wanted to return to the store but was prohibited from doing so by the victim. It is further alleged that Griffin then pulled a loaded gun and shot the victim. A brief struggle ensued resulting in Griffin being shot. Both men received treatment for their injuries.

"The allegations against Mr. Griffin are extremely serious and will be met with the full force and effect of the law," Berlin said. "I would like to thank the Loss Prevention Officer for his efforts in disarming and detaining the suspect in this case and note that it is certainly good news that he is expected to make a full recovery from his injuries."

Griffin's next court appearance was scheduled to have taken place Tuesday in front of Judge MacKay.
